

109 Glenwood Blvd.,
Schenectady, N.Y.,
Nov. 28, 1924.

Mr. Frank A. Wardlaw, Secy.,
Edison Pioneers,
29 West 39th Street,
New York City.

My dear Mr. Wardlaw:

Here are your letters of Oct. 17th and 30th still unacknowledged.

The article in Edisonia, relating to characteristics of the Z, L and K machines, with picture of a Menlo Park Z or A with wooden base is mistake for the real Overck Street Z with iron base, was by John W. Lieb, and not by Mr.
Andrews or me. Funny we can't find a picture of the E with iron base — which must be done, if there ever was such.

Am glad to learn that ceremonies for dedicating the marker at Menlo Park are deferred until spring.

About those early Edison instruction books: I had a letter from Mr.
Meadowcroft on the subject, searched my files and could find none,
and wrote him to that effect.

Hoping all now goes well with your health, I am,

Yours sincerely,
Chas. L. Clark.